

“ Canada would be more attractive to investors if the 13 bodies that regulate the country’s securities markets
were replaced with a single national regulator.”

Rodrigo de Rato, Former Managing Director, International Monetary Fund.

*In a recently released report, The Expert Panel on Securities Regulation has made the following recommendations:
Advancing more proportionate and principles-based regulation.
Specific measures aimed at improving enforcement in Canada.
Addressing existing shortcomings with measures to better serve the needs of individual investors.*

The Expert Panel believes that its recommendations will best be achieved by creating a Single Securities Regulator with clear national accountability - but with a strong decentralized structure that retains local service and regional expertise.

To find out more about the recommendations made by The Expert Panel on Securities Regulation please visit www.expertpanel.ca

FPO_Space for sponsor’s name, logo and a short line

ff
Canada is the only major country in the world without a Single Securities Regulator. In 2007, it was one of two members out of the 182 members of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) who did not have a single securities regulator.

The fact that no one entity speaks for Canada on the international stage leaves doubts about the soundness and efficiency of Canadian capital markets.

Ontario Bar Association

*In a recently released report, The Expert Panel on Securities Regulation has made the following recommendations:
Advancing more proportionate and principles-based regulation.
Specific measures aimed at improving enforcement in Canada.
Addressing existing shortcomings with measures to better serve the needs of individual investors.*

The Expert Panel believes that its recommendations will best be achieved by creating a Single Securities Regulator with clear national accountability - but with a strong decentralized structure that retains local service and regional expertise.

To find out more about the recommendations made by The Expert Panel on Securities Regulation please visit www.expertpanel.ca

FPO_Space for sponsor's name, logo and a short line